

Utah and Salt Lake County Election Analytics

BACK TO ANALYTICS HOME

Salt Lake County State House Races in which GOP prevailed

Download as PDF: statehousedataslco.pdf

This page is historical data of Utah State House races pertinent to Salt Lake County from 2010. Data was extracted from source data available at: <https://slco.org/clerk/elections/election-results/>.

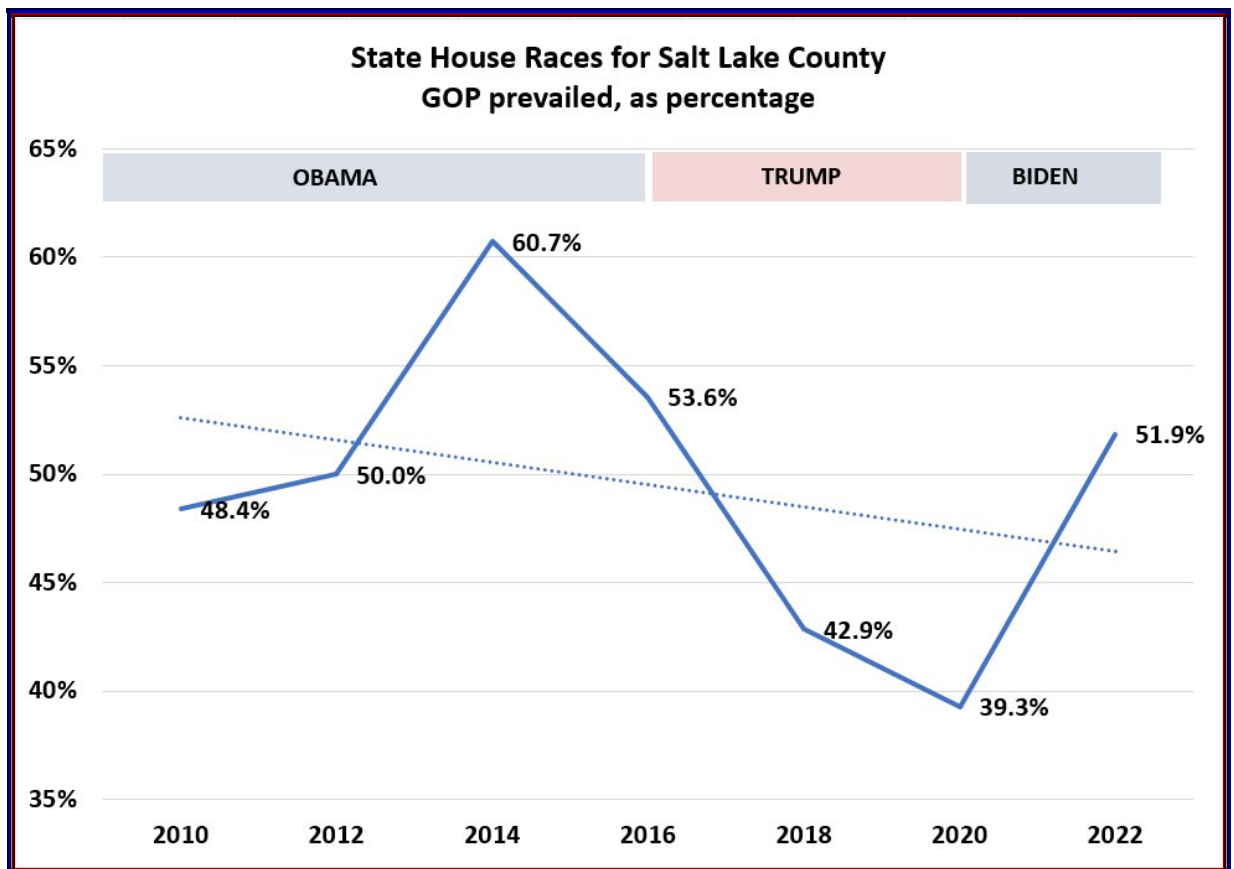

Some State House districts cross county boundaries. To confirm the candidate won a race across all the pertinent counties, check historical results at <https://vote.utah.gov/historical-election-results/>.

Since 2010, the county GOP has been doing better prevailing in State House races when a Democrat is in the White House. This is illustrated in the table and two charts below. Note the GOP contestant peak in 2014, the midterm of Obama's second term.

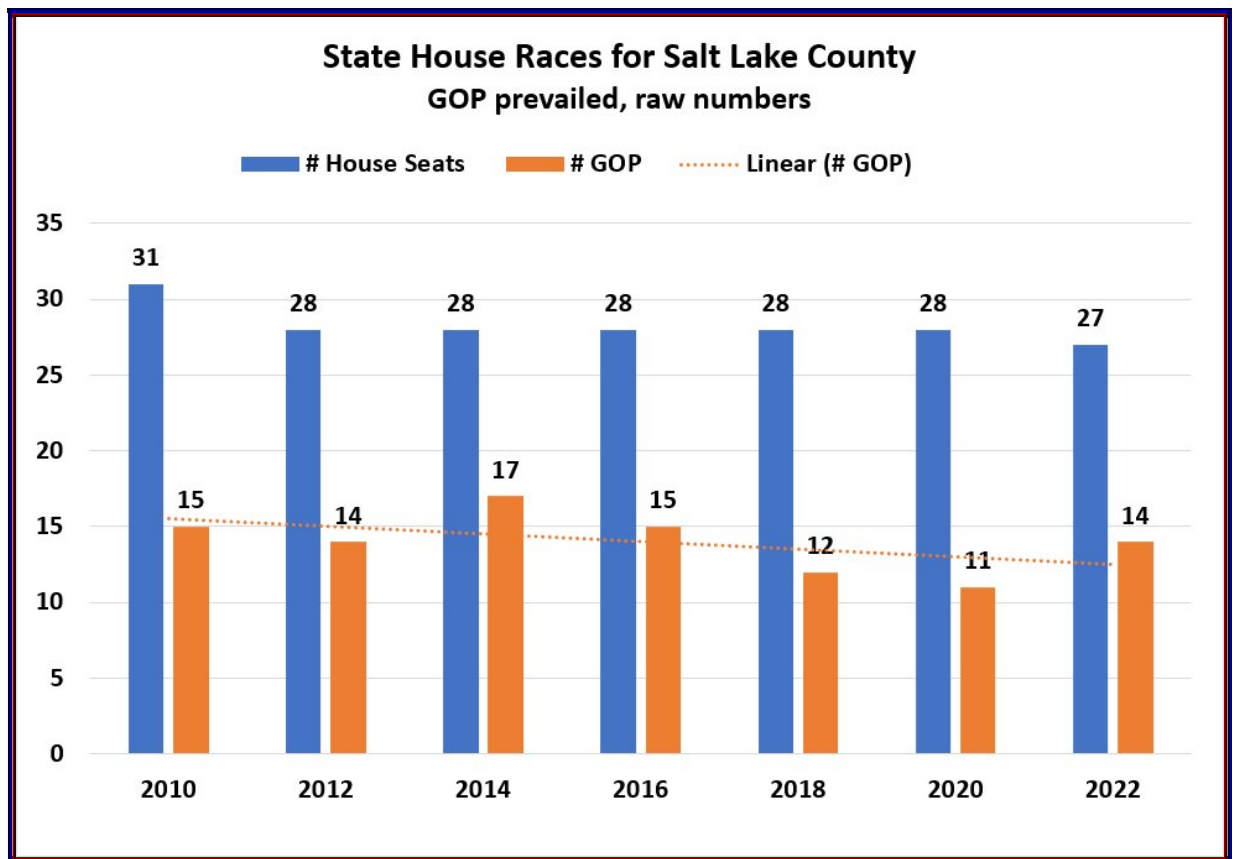

State House Races for Salt Lake County

Year	# House Seats	# GOP Prevails	% GOP Prevails
2010	31	15	48.4%
2012	28	14	50.0%
2014	28	17	60.7%
2016	28	15	53.6%
2018	28	12	42.9%
2020	28	11	39.3%
2022	27	14	51.9%

The first chart expresses the ratio as a percentage.

The second chart shows the same data as raw numbers.

Salt Lake County State House Races without opposition from major opposing party

In 2016, six Democrats won seats unchallenged by GOP opponents. They were Rebecca Chavez-Houck, Joel Briscoe, Angelo Romero, Brian King, Patrice Arent, and Marie Poulson.

State House Races for Salt Lake County

Year	Dem no GOP opponent	GOP no Dem opponent
2010	0	2
2012	1	2
2014	1	2
2016	6	1
2018	1	1
2020	2	0
2022	2	1

